

BRIEF REVIEW OF SITUATION

Political Gossip On The Prospects Of The Different Candidates Up To Date.

CONGRESSIONAL MATTERS TALKED

Interest Shown In The Outcome In First, Third and Ninth Congressional Districts--Other News of Politics.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis.—So much has transpired in state politics within the past week that it is hard to know just where to begin on the inner of inner plots. A week ago the question of La Follette's tour of the state in the interests of Leurost was a doubtful proposition. He has practically covered the southwestern portion of the state, has spoken in the largest towns and cities, closing tonight at Janesville. Thus far his tour has not been a success. His audiences have been indifferent, something that never happened to the Senator before, and his audiences have been slim as well. Not that he has not been welcomed, even regally, in some localities with all the old-time enthusiasm and audience, but on the whole he has not made the impression that he was expected to make nor that he expected to make.

Strange Statement
In a speech Friday afternoon he made the startling statement that he would return to the state in October to continue his present program of campaigning. This can be taken to mean one of three things: Either he is so confident that Leurost will be nominated; that if Davidson is nominated he will support him; or that he intends to have Leurost run independent if he falls at nomination. The matter is not bothering the politicians here very much, as even with a split in the ranks of the republicans, the democrats are so disorganized that they will not be able to avail themselves of any opportunity that may be offered to them. However in this connection it might be cited that State Chairman Manson of the democratic party is making strenuous efforts to hold his democratic brethren together in the vain hopes of making them do something they have not done for years past—keep out of the republican primaries.

Congressional Fights
Interest is evinced in the congressional fights in the first, second, third and ninth districts. Cochems' fight in Milwaukee is not attracting undue attention, although Cochems is making a campaign seldom equaled before a nomination. In the first the fight is four-cornered: Cooper and Nolan on the republican and Cunningham and Stewart on the democratic side. Cooper appears to have waned to the gravity of the situation and has been beseeching La Follette to help him. The story is that the Senator is not pleased with Cooper's attitude towards Dalzell in the closing days of congress and may refuse. However, the present congressman is now quarantined in his temporary home in the Hotel Racine, Racine, and has a bureau of information at work sending out literature which dates back to ninety-five and ninety-seven and but little of it refers to the present questions at stake. Nolan appears to have made decided headway in Lafayette county and has a strong following in Green and Walworth. Racine and Kenosha still remain to be explored more fully. These are the reports heard here.

The Second
The defeat of Dudgeon at the last district convention by Nelson appears only to have added to the intensity of the situation here. Dudgeon is a fighter and is backed by all of Adams' contingent and by many of the former strong La Follette men. He says he will make a showing on primary day that will be surprising. Nelson has won the nomination for the unexpired term of Adams and has no opposition, so a dozen votes would elect him. George Lewis, the democratic nominee for congress, declares that he can beat Nelson if Dudgeon is defeated at the primaries. He says he has promise of support from all of Adams' followers to this effect. Such promises have been heard before and it is doubtful if they amount to anything. Matters are at a fever pitch just now and the air may not cool even after the primaries. It is claimed Davidson has helped Nelson and this may react on the Governor.

The Third and Ninth
In the third and ninth Babcock and Minor are doing their best to win out in the face of strong opposition. Senator La Follette spoke against Babcock in his speeches in the third district, but old Bab' is such a campaigner that he may be safely calculated to win out when the time comes. He has his district thoroughly organized and is working all the tricks of the political game to success. Babcock resigned from the congressional steering committee to devote his time to his own district and he has shown wisdom in doing so. In the ninth Minor has a hard row to hoe. He is being bitterly opposed in all sections and if the Sturgeon Bay men pull out he will have performed a wonder.

State Officers
The fight for state offices appears to be of little interest generally. It is conceded that Connor will be nominated for Lieutenant Governor and the question of secretary of state is yet doubtful. Of the three candidates out—Froese, Houser and Froelich—Froelich appears to have been making rapid strides to popularity. Houser is under a ban for the disclosures in regard to alleged attempted bribery. Froese is also questioned as to this being the instigator of the whole trouble. The rest of the offices are being eagerly sought after and a lively campaign is expected.

Dominant Society of Two European Capitals
Mrs. Ronalds, A Boston Girl, Seriously Ill At Advanced Age, In The City Of London.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Aug. 13.—In view of her advanced age the illness of Mrs. Ronalds, the popular American hostess, is causing serious anxiety, and although her friends are being told that she is better, her recovery is regarded as very doubtful.
Mrs. Ronalds is past seventy years of age. Her social career has been both brilliant and unique. She was Miss Mary Frances Carter of Boston. Nearly fifty years ago she married Pierre Lorillard Ronalds, the millionaire snuff maker. She lived eight years with her husband and they had four children. Then they decided that they were uncongenial and separated. It was not until 1899 that divorce proceedings were begun, and then the husband began a suit in Connecticut, accusing Mrs. Ronalds of desertion. He died a short time ago, nearly eighty years of age.
After the separation Mrs. Ronalds came to Europe and ever since has made her home on this side of the water. She played a brilliant part in the court life of Napoleon III's unhappy rule, and with the fall of that monarch came over to London to dominate a second capital. Her wit and grace, no less than her artistic talent and infinite tact, gave her a power, the influence of which it is hard to estimate. She has been a clever organizer and a shrewd woman of business; and these qualities combined to form a personality of extraordinary attraction. She is intimate with the royal family. She is the friend and hostess of every aristocrat of her age. Until her recent illness her house on Sundays was crowded by the most brilliant assemblages that could be found anywhere in the metropolis. Great composers and conductors, Italian opera stars, virtuosi of the greatest reputation, authors of world-wide fame, society leaders in its most fascinating and exclusive form, were to be found every week crowding her modest drawing room.
Mrs. Ronalds always has enjoyed a large income and its source has been a subject of no little mystery and speculation. It has been hinted frequently that the bulk of her revenue was derived from generous tips given to her by Americans who relied on her to make the acquaintance of the smart set in London. It has been said that it was due to her influence that Mrs. Mackay got admission to the highest social circles and made the acquaintance of King Edward and his friends. It is said also that it was Mrs. Ronalds who smoothed the way for Consuelo Vanderbilt when she came here as the Duchess of Marlborough; and scores of others now prominent, doubtless owe to her their introduction into the charmed circle of upper society. Her death would mark the passing of a most unique figure and she would be greatly missed.

GREEN BAY BOAT RAN DOWN A BARGE-TUG

Steamer on Which Janesville People Have Ridden Had Collision With Tug's Crew Escaped.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Green Bay, Aug. 13.—The tug George W. Bennett was run down by the steamer Sauaruck of the Green Bay Transportation Co., eighteen miles from here. The crew of the tug had a narrow escape on the barge Baldwin which they were towing. The Bennett cost $15,000.

Articles of incorporation have been filed of the Michigan Sugar Company, which will consolidate under one management at least seven of the largest beet sugar manufacturing plants in the state. The initial capitalization is given at $2,500, but it is expected that when the combine is completed the figures will reach into the millions.

BAY STATE GUARDS INVADING CANADA

First Massachusetts Infantry Repaying Honor Done by Forty-Third Cornwall's Rifles.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Aug. 13.—With bands playing and flags flying, the Fifth Regiment of Infantry of the Massachusetts militia starts this evening for an invasion of Canada. The immediate objective point is the City of Ottawa—the capital of the Dominion and the seat of government. After taking the city by storm the regiment plans to hold a review on the beautiful grounds in front of the Parliament buildings. The fact that the invaders will bear arms might lead some persons to imagine that another Fenian raid was in prospect. But nothing is farther from the truth. The regiment goes to Canada at the special invitation of the authorities and the trip is in the nature of a return for the visit paid Boston last fall by the Fifty-third Regiment, Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles, of Ottawa. The Massachusetts soldiers expect to spend two days in Ottawa. On the return trip they will make a stop at Montreal.

SHOE AND LEATHER FAIR IN CHICAGO

Exhibition of Chinese Footwear Directed by Bureau of Manufactures Men.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 13.—The national shoe and leather fair, for which preparations have been in progress for months, opened today in the First Regiment armory, to continue through next week. The exposition is the first large affair of its kind in this country and has attracted universal attention. It has included the display of the biggest shoe jobbers, shoe manufacturers, tanners, leather dealers, machinery and supply firms. A unique feature of the show is the exhibit arranged under the direction of Major John M. Carson, chief of the bureau of manufactures of the United States government. This exhibit is designed to arouse the interest of American manufacturers of shoe and leather goods in the immediate possibilities of the export trade. The exhibit includes a complete series of samples of the boots and shoes worn by the Chinese, also of the several parts of these styles of footwear, so that the method of manufacture and the appearance of the finished article can be comprehended at a glance.

Conclave Opens at Essen—American Societies Represented by Fraternal Delegate.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Berlin, Aug. 13.—In the city of Essen, where the great Krupp steel works are located, scores of representative Roman Catholics from all parts of the German empire are gathering for their great annual conclave. It is the annual meeting of the Roman Catholic Central Verein. The proceedings are to begin tomorrow and continue through the coming week. Eminent representatives of the faith, both clerical and lay, are always in attendance, and some of the speeches delivered in the past were had far-reaching effect. But the relations of the Catholic church and the government at present are most satisfactory and it is not anticipated that anything will come up at the convention this year to disturb the tranquility. The American Federation of Catholic Societies has sent a fraternal delegate to the convention in the person of Alphonse C. Koelbe.

FRANZ JOSEF STILL MAN OF IRON AT SEVENTY-SIX

Celebration Of Austro-Hungarian Emperor's Birthday--Rumors Of Poor Health Are Canards.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Vienna, Aug. 13.—Once again the dual monarchy has had the privilege of celebrating the birthday anniversary of Emperor Francis Joseph, the venerable figure whose firm grasp has held together the sheaf of nations for nearly sixty years. Today was the seventy-sixth birthday of the Emperor. It was celebrated in the customary manner in the capital by a general suspension of business, special services of thanksgiving in the churches and gala performances at the opera.
Sensational rumors have been circulated of late regarding the health of the Emperor. So far as can be learned there is today no better foundation for these stories than there has been for similar reports that have been circulated periodically during the past decade or longer. His majesty's excellent health is undoubtedly due to the absolute regularity of his life. There is no more conscientious monarch on any throne. Formerly he used to remain in the Hofburg in this city all winter, and only go out to his beloved Schonbrunn about the end of April. But for the past two or three years he has spent the greater part of the year there, coming to Vienna for state business only.
Every morning summer and winter, his majesty gets up at 5 o'clock. By 6 o'clock his toilet is completed, and he goes for a long walk in the park of the castle. At 7:30 he is back in the castle, changes his boots, and at 8 o'clock enters his carriage and drives to the Hofburg, a drive of about twenty minutes. From 8:30 to 4 o'clock he seldom ceases work, receiving ministers and functionaries, and perusing and signing state documents. He does not even rise from his desk for lunch; his servant simply brings him a tray containing two or three dishes, a vegetable and a stone mug containing half a litre of beer. That, with a roll and a saltzstengel, forms the whole repast.
At 4 o'clock he drives back to Schonbrunn, and at 5:30 dinner is served, to which one of the archdukes or one of his aides-de-camp is sometimes invited. The Emperor's chief delight in late years appears to have been the half-hour or so daily that he has spent in company with his grandchildren.

TWO EDITORS IN CLOSE RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Hoke Smith Of The Atlanta Journal And Clark Howell Of Atlantic Constitution, Close Campaigns Other Politics.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 13.—One of the most stirring campaigns Georgia ever has known practically closed today. Next Wednesday a general primary will be held throughout the state for the nomination of candidates for governor and other state officers, chief justice, and associate justices of the supreme court, and county officers. The nomination is equivalent to an election. The voters also will express their preference for United States senator to succeed Senator A. O. Bacon, who is a candidate for re-election.
Public interest is centered almost entirely in the fight for the gubernatorial nomination. The two leaders in the race are Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, and Hoke Smith, editor of the Atlanta Journal and secretary of the interior in President Cleveland's cabinet. The names of J. H. East, editor of the Savannah News, Richard B. Russell and Judge James M. Smith will appear on the ballot for the governorship; but their candidacy is believed to cut small figure in the race. The fight is between Howell and Hoke Smith.
For more than three months Howell and Smith have been conducting an active campaign. They have been working with their coats off, almost every city, town and hamlet from one boundary of the state to the other has been treated to their stump oratory, while their newspaper organs have kept up a continuous fire of claims and counter claims, charges and denials. The state has been stirred from center to circumference and everyone is on edge in anticipation of the fight at the polls next week.
Hoke Smith is fighting what he calls the "ring and railroad" domination of the Georgia democracy. But the prominent plank of his platform has for its object the disfranchisement of the negroes. On the subject of disfranchisement Smith says: "I favor, and if elected, will urge with all my power the elimination of the negro from politics as the best possible solution of the race problem, for both whites and blacks. Disfranchisement can be accomplished by legal and constitutional methods, just as it has been adopted in North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Virginia, without disfranchising a single white man. If elected, I would oppose with all my power the enactment of any legislation that would have the effect of disfranchising a single white voter in Georgia."
Howell's slogan in his fight against Smith is "Organized Democracy Against Populism and Fusion." He has bid for the straight democratic vote against Smith, who is regarded as the candidate of the fusion element. Tom Watson, populist candidate for president in 1904, has openly announced his support of Hoke Smith for governor and has advised all populists in the state to follow his example.
The close of the campaign finds both sides apparently confident of the result. Both declare that they will carry the state by an overwhelming majority. To an unbiased onlooker it appears to be a close contest.

Hoke Smith.
Born in North Carolina, fifty-one years ago, moved to Atlanta at 17 years of age, taught school, studied law, practiced in Atlanta, became newspaper proprietor in 1887; appointed secretary of the interior, 1893; resigned, 1896.
Clark Howell.
Born in South Carolina, forty-three years ago, lived in Atlanta since infancy, graduated from University of Georgia in 1883; became managing editor of Constitution in 1889 and editor-in-chief in 1897; member of Georgia house of representatives six years; member of democratic national committee since 1892.

Seventh California District.
Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 13.—The republican congressional convention of the Seventh California district is being held in Los Angeles today. All indications point to the renomination of Representative James McLachlan. The republican nomination in this district is regarded as the equivalent to election.
Labor in the Campaign.
Lewiston, Me., Aug. 13.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor is scheduled for a speech here tonight, the event marking the opening of a week's active campaign that he will pursue in his efforts to bring about the defeat of Representative Charles E. Littlefield at next month's election. The federal union of labor has singled Mr. Littlefield out as the particular object of attack in the first political fight to be waged by organized labor. Besides President Gompers' visit, it is likely that John Mitchell, of the miners' union and one of the more prominent labor leaders will be brought into the district and put on the stump to speak in behalf of D. J. McGillicuddy, who is Mr. Littlefield's opponent. The normal republican majority in the district is 5,000, and Mr. Littlefield's campaign managers declare that they are not uneasy over the outlook. Believing, however, that it is better to be safe than sorry they intend to bring Speaker Cannon and other big party leaders into Maine before the close of the campaign.

INTERESTING TABLE
ON DIFFERENT CROPS

Edgerton Tobacco Reporter Gives Statistics on Tobacco and Sugar
Beets.

The buying movement is pretty well spiked in most of the tobacco growing sections, though a good deal of riding is being done and frequent offers made, says the Edgerton Reporter.
Some sales are being effected when the prices are attractive enough to overcome the determination of growers to decline to sell until the crop is secured. The contracts thus closed range from 11 to 15 cents for bundle delivery. Thus far the large operators have taken, but little part in the movement except to keep closely in touch with what the other fellow is doing.
The growing crop improving wonderfully under the influence of ideal growing weather and the late fields that did not promise much before the late rains the growers now have hope for. The harvest has commenced in a few localities and it now looks as if more tobacco would reach the sheds in August than for some years past.
The medium fields, which have been topped since the rains look likely to attain the best growth of the year.
The cured leaf market has no new developments. Packers who are now sampling their 1905 holdings report the tobacco coming through unusually sound and as well cured and dried off as it usually is later in the fall.
The shipments out of storage reach about 300 cases from this market to all points for the past week.

The same paper also prints the following interesting table. The first of the crop statistics of the year, gathered by the assessors, is given to the public below in a comparative table showing the tobacco acreage of Rock county together with that of sugar beets with that of last season. While it is not claimed that these figures are infallible, we have come to the conclusion that they are more accurate than those obtained from any other source, not excepting the statistics from the agricultural department at Washington:

late rains the growers now have hopes for a crop. For the harvest has commenced in a few localities and it now looks is- more tobacco would reach the sheds in August than for some years past. The medium fields, which have been topped since the rains look likely to attain the best growth of the year. The cured leaf market was no developments. Packers were not sampling their 1906 holdings; report the tobacco coming through unsam- pled, and as well cured and dried off as it usually is later in the fall. The shipments out of storage reach about 300 cases from this market at all points for the past week.

Total ..... 6936 1/2 5081 1/2 2077 1/2 3026 1/2
These figures indicate that something like the old time acreage is again being devoted to tobacco. It will be noted that the increase over a year ago is about 33 per cent, being considerably above any previous estimates. If this increase occurs over other tobacco sections of the state,
then the figures of the government statistical department of 13 per cent are entirely out of the way. As usual, the town of Porter is the banner town of the county, growing 806 acres, with Fulton next with 832 and Janesville, Center and Spring Valley, not very far behind. While the tobacco area of the county has increased nearly 2000 acres, the sugar beet area has dropped off 1,000 acres, and the two crops together hardly reach the acreage of tobacco a few years ago.
On the face of the returns it would appear that the sugar beet people must go outside the tobacco growing sections for their acreage in the future.

Gentlemen:—I have been using Lavaline in my home for some time and think it is a fine cleanser for windows, mirrors and all kinds of glass. It never scratches. Yours very truly,

AT ALL GROCERS AND DRUGGISTS

Housework a Means of Grace.

The French women have graceful figures even after the dreaded period of middle age, and this is due to the fact that they eat little and exercise much in their own homes. They take very little outdoor exercise, such as the English women delight in, but they are always busy about their homes, one reason being that they are economically inclined, and another that they have a horror of adipose tissue.

Bringing Husband to Time.

The colonial wife is not to be trifled with. When her husband goes "up country" and neglects to return within a fair and reasonable time, she simply advertises for him. Here is a recent advertisement from an Australian paper: "If my husband,
A. B., does not answer this advertisement in three weeks, I intend to get married. Signed C. D."—Royal Magazine.

FOREIGN CONSUL HAS
IDEA FOR CIGAR MEN

Suggests That the "No Nicotine" Cigar, Same as in Germany, Be Placed on the Market Here.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—Consul Hurst at Plauen, Germany, reports to the Department of Commerce and Labor "that in spite of the fact that German cigars as a whole are light in comparison with those of other countries there has been considerable local agitation as to the harmful effects of smoking and of over-smoking in particular."

Continuing Consul Hurst says:
"Although the use of the weed has in no wise diminished thereby, some factories are now producing cigars known as 'no nicotine' and 'no tar' in nicotine. It has come to notice, however, that certain makes of these cigars are advertised as free from this poison, but contain in reality from 0.35 to 0.9 per cent of nicotine, while ordinary cigarette tobacco varies between 0.3 and 0.4 per cent.
Thus there is little difference between some of the tobacco from which the nicotine is supposed to have been extracted and that which has not been treated. An effort is now being made in Saxony to fix the maximum that a cigar 'poor in nicotine' may contain in order to be sold as such and the tobacco of the cigar claimed as 'free' must in reality be so cured that no chemical analysis will be able to reveal the presence of nicotine."

"Some of our American manufacturers," continued Consul Hurst, "at-though acquainted with the German
'no nicotine' and 'no tar' cigars, remains indifferent and on the eve of departing is freely expressing his gratitude for the kindly feeling which Janesville people have shown to have him and for their assistance. He says the 'little' he has been able to accomplish was not for self, gain or self gratification, but for the good of the people. He was doing what he felt his duty to God and man, believing that what he was doing would help to lift humanity out of the gutter and onto a higher plane of civilization, respectability and Christianity."
The Captain does not cover the praise of the press and the people, but sheds the honors for all the accomplishments of the army during his command to his soldiers and Lieutenant. He wishes to thank Marshal Ap-pley and his men for their kindly interest and protection and the people generally for their sympathy and financial aid. A farewell meeting will be held Sunday night.

TERRIFIC MID-AIR
CYCLE SOMERSAULT

Ringling Brothers' Great European Sensation.

The man who loves thrills will find his money's worth at Ringling Bros.
World's Greatest Shows this year. He is apt to go away with a pale face and a haunted look after witnessing Herr Fuss' terrific bicycle stunts down an almost perpendicular plane, and blood curdling somersault into space, while the crowd from the ground, absorbed in the excitement of the performance, is unable to see the hugely "hypocondriac" trick. His novel act has been the sensation of European capitals, and is now introduced for the first time in America.
Doors of daring and dauntless dash which have brought worldwide fame to circus invention in the last few years are made to look commonplace in contrast with this ingenious and astounding exploit. No painter could paint the tense, pitting, and awed expression of the crowds as they sittently await the signal for Herr Fuss to begin his death-defying flight.
Down the awful incline the fearless rider wheels with meteoric wings until he hits an upturned curve and is shot into space, turning head over heels and landing, seated in the saddle of the delicate machine, on a platform fifty feet distant, and speeds to the ground safe. The machine, in which Herr Fuss gambles with fate is of special construction, but has no saying or controlling device different from the familiar high grade of manufacture. After the race with death is won the crowd's swarm around the modest, pale-faced, hero and cheer him to the echo. The dumb apparatus upon which he makes the desperate run and leap is lingered over, studied and commented upon until carried away, applauded in its exit like a human hero. This Niagara plunge makes all the loop loops, shoot the gaps, and like performances of recent date look like tricks of boyhood pride in comparison. It defies the laws of nature and projects as a tantalizing finger in the shade of Sir Isaac Newton. Herr Fuss has undoubtedly reached the absolute limit of what man can do in reckless and ingenious feats of hazard and devilish device. Ringling Brothers will exhibit here Friday, August 21, and give two performances in the attenuated at 2 o'clock and evening at 8 o'clock. Reserved seats, numbered, and admission tickets will be sold at the downtown ticket office every day at the same prices charged in the ticket wagons on the show grounds.

A LIFE STORY IN CLASSIFIED ADS

CHAPTER XX.

All men are born traders, in this you'll agree; We all like to trade when a bargain we see. If you wish to exchange anything you possess, We'll tell you a way that will sure bring success.

Do as our hero did, read over with care The Gazette Want Pages—you'll find bargains there. Or, put in an ad telling what you will trade And what your desire—good exchanges are made.

There is no want on earth, be it great, be it small, That we cannot supply, for we satisfy all. The proof of the pudding is in chewing the strings: Results are the proof Gazette Want Ads will bring.

ALCOHOL MADE FROM COFFEE.

Good Quality and Large Quantity Taken From Bulb of Bean.

E. H. Plumacher, consul at Maracaibo, adds another chapter to the utilization of waste products, says the New York Herald. He writes as follows concerning a valuable new method of securing a native illuminant and power producer in the tropics:

In a letter written by Don Enrique Sanchez, of Bucaramanga, republic of Colombia, to the newspaper El Mercurio de Bogota, I see the following interesting information: "Don Enrique Sanchez states that after many scientific laboratory trials it has been proved that from the bulb of the coffee bean a good quality and large quantity of alcohol can be abstracted. Up to date the bulb has been useless. It is well known to us here in the coffee-growing districts that of the coffee pod, only the coffee bean has been of value. If it is true that from the bulb a good and sufficient quantity of alcohol can be abstracted by distillation it is of the greatest benefit to all coffee-producing countries, as the alcohol will be used for illumination and for any other purpose. Most of our interior towns and houses are illuminated by petroleum, which has to be brought from the United States in boxes and shipped on muleback over high mountains and bad roads to the interior at a great expense. The import of petroleum to the coffee-growing countries will suffer greatly and also the revenue of the fiscus, as a heavy import duty is collected, especially in Venezuela."

Mystery in Buried Cities.

In Egypt, in Asia Minor and other parts of the world where the earliest human life was known, explorations at times unearth long-buried cities, upon plains not supposed to have been subject to volcanic eruptions or earthquake leveling.

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, Aug. 18th, 1866.—Run Over by a Runaway Team.—Miss Naomi Burnham, daughter of Mr. S. C. Burnham, was run over by a runaway team on Bluff street, last evening. She saw it coming and attempted to get out of the way by passing through a gate, but was unable to do so before she was struck and knocked down. We understand that her injuries are not serious.

The Health of the City.—We understand that rumors have gone into the country that there is considerable sickness here, and that a number of cases of cholera had occurred. But we beg leave to assure our friends residing out of town that the universal testimony of our physicians is that there is comparatively little sickness.

Extension of Railroads.—The Minnesota Valley Railroad will be finished to St. Paul in three weeks. The Pacific Road will be completed to St. Cloud, eighty miles north of St. Paul, Minnesota, by September.

land there has been but a single case here of anything that resembles cholera, and that occurred on Thursday evening and resulted fatally on Friday. The name of the man who died was Lawrence Callahan. We understand that he had been suffering for a number of days with diarrhoea and that just previous to being taken down violently he drank freely of ice water. If people will be careful and the authorities will do their duty in keeping the city clean, there need be no apprehensions whatever of the visitation of cholera in our city.

Of course, a store-aid may be a "pulling" one, but it is not placed before enough of the right kind of people "what's the use?"

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Many people today imagine that the undefinable thing called "politics" is the cause of all the ills from which the nation suffers and they are firm in the belief that when politics is abolished the country will occupy a higher plane than ever before.

It is difficult for this class of people to think of political parties, without connecting them with corruption of the vilest sort. Every dollar contributed for the support of party organization, or for campaign purposes, is a tainted dollar, and especially if it comes from the till of a corporation. Congressman Sherman, the new chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, is responsible for a new movement, which he hopes will become popular, for raising money for political purposes. It is known as the "dollar campaign fund" and the name of President Roosevelt heads the list.

In speaking of the scheme and commending it, the over-righteous Collier's Weekly takes occasion to denounce the old chairman of the committee, Congressman Babcock of Wisconsin.

"It might be said in passing that what 'Collier's' and the Saturday Evening Post don't know about running the government, can be carried around in a very small cup. The publishers of these high class periodicals are wisdom personified. When they get through reforming the country there won't be anything left but an empty pill box and Bok, of the Ladies' Home Journal, will capture that."

What is politics, and how much money does the average voter contribute for political purposes. It is a popular notion that the American government is the people's government and the cheapest orator grows red in the face by shouting for the principles of government by the people, of the people and for the people. Who pays him for the shouting? Not the people, but some candidate who aspires to represent them, or some campaign fund provided for the purpose.

How many of the people represent the masses at the national seat of government? Less than 500, yet the people are well represented, and every representative is a successful party politician.

Politics is the foundation of government, and party organization and perpetuity is as necessary to the life of the republic as is honest money.

Politics enters into the warp and woof of every form of government in the republic, from the chairman of the board of the rural districts to the making of a president for the White House. Washington is the only city in the country that is not under political rule and it is also the only city where the citizens are denied the right of franchise.

Politics and the party are inseparable and the man who is destitute of a party has long been regarded as a political orphan.

The effort now being made to reform politics, through the independent voter, will fail, because a party can only be reformed from within. The primary law aims to disrupt party organization, and voters are urged to support the best men on the ticket, regardless of what principles they represent.

This new law, by the way, has just had its first innings in Oregon and its admirers claim that it is a great success, yet the fact remains that every successful candidate for state office spent from $2,000 up, to secure his nomination and it is reported that one man spent $75,000.

The people of Oregon are honest enough to admit that no poor man can afford to seek office.

In our own state thousands of dollars are being spent by office seekers to secure nomination. If this same money was contributed by friends of candidates, or through party organization, it would be called tainted and denounced as corrupt.

It is popular to denounce life insurance companies and other corporations for contributing money to defeat the free silver lunacy which attacked the country like an epidemic a few years ago, and stringent laws have been passed to prevent similar contributions in the future, and yet this money came from republicans and democrats alike, and was freely contributed to save the honor of the nation.

The directors of any corporation who would not take action to aid in would be derelict in duty and incompetent for intelligent service.

The people are inclined to be daffy on many reform questions, and politics, and the railroads are favorite dumping grounds for a good many theories.

Every man owes it to himself to be a politician. He should be loyal to some political party and should be able to give a reason for the faith that is in him.

The men in office, from the highest to the lowest, are placed there by some political party. They represent a majority of public sentiment, and are the representatives of all the people.

It will be ample time to abandon politics and parties when some better way is found to express popular sentiment.

Chicago Record-Herald: A man who owned an island just off the Pacific coast threatens to bring suit because his property disappeared when the earthquake occurred. The dispatches do not say whether he intends to sue the earthquake or make Providence the defendant.

Objects to the Sleeping Lady.
Sheboygan Journal: Appleton people have started a crusade against objectionable bill boards. The lady robed in gauze who makes her couch on the rim of the moon ought to receive attention first. A concern, whether it sells patent medicines or theater tickets, that calls the attention of the public by using glaringly suggestive posters creates suspicion that what it advertises is a fake.

No Czolgoz Wanted.
Madison Journal: A brother of President McKinley's assassin was rejected by the police commissioners of Cleveland when he made application to join the department, they not wishing to encourage the prominence his name would cause if he became a member of the force. It is natural that Cleveland should not care to encourage anything to revive the memories of its shame.

Mush!
Superior Telegram: The story is told of a Superior young man, who, when he writes a letter to his "only one," moistens the gun on the envelope with sterilized spring water—feeling that it would not be right to moisten it with his tongue and thus defile it with physical exudation. Still it is sometimes claimed that there are those who start out "too good to be true" and find it difficult to keep the pace for a lifetime.

Those Who Dispute His Wisdom.
Oshkosh Northwestern: With such men as ex-Governor Hoard, General Bryant, Senator McGillivray, Senator Stout, Senator Wylie, R. M. Bashford, Atley Peterson, John M. True, B. J. Castle and scores of others who in the past have been strong supporters of La Follette and are now found disputing his wisdom in picking Lenroot in preference to Davidson, it is little wonder that the rank and file of the republican party will feel like wise have a right to make their own selection, regardless of the senator's plea. The senator may convince some that this judgment is better than theirs, but not many will be moved to defeating a measure of that kind, yield their convictions just to please Mr. La Follette.

Veterans Should March No More.
Evening Wisconsin: The repeated suggestions that the veterans of the Grand Army should abandon the traditional parade at the national encampment receives added force from the fact that during yesterday's parade in Minneapolis five of them sank to the pavement under the stress of fatigue in the burning sun, and yielded their lives on the altar of mere sentiment. In addition to these deaths there were many prostrations, the total number in the parade and among the onlookers being in the neighborhood of fifty. One of the veterans who were thus suddenly stricken was Col. Charles W. Keating of New Orleans, who fell from his horse and died in a few moments. If the heat and fatigue were too much for these men, what must be concluded regarding the strain upon the aged veterans who prodded along the heated pavement? The national encampment should pass upon this question while it is still in session, and put an end to this annual parade.

Pleasing to Note
It is always pleasing to note what exchanges say of "The Gazette," good, bad or indifferent. The following two clippings are taken from "The Fourth Estate" and "The Western Monthly":

The Fourth Estate Record-Breaking Ad.
"In the Janesville (Wis.) Gazette recently appeared what is believed to be the largest advertisement ever printed by a newspaper in the city. It was inserted by the Lowell department store and filled four pages. It was printed in red and black. Its foreign business is attended to by M. C. Watson, Home Life building, New York, and A. W. Allen, Tribune building, Chicago."

The Western Monthly
"One of the biggest little papers of the country is the Janesville, Wisconsin, Daily Gazette, and a sworn circulation statement shows an average circulation during the past year of 3,154 copies. Its advertising columns are unusually attractive for a small city daily, and its advertisers are loud in praise of the excellent results received."

Never Wake Up to See.
While two friends were walking home the other day they were joined by one of the eccentric old characters of the town. "My friend," said one of the chums, "how do you sleep now?" "I never wake up to see," replied Jim.

PIANOS AT FIRST HAND

New, Unscratched, Fresh,
Just Out of the Factory.

I appeal to you again as a reliable piano dealer to be ware of cheap pianos. Buy good, well-built, reliable pianos, direct from the factory, such as: Newman Bros' Piano, built for superior tone quality and action of the very best; or the Lester Piano, which cannot be excelled by any and very few are its equal. The best material that money can buy is used throughout its entire construction. Still another I would call your attention to is the Reynolds Piano. This has a very rich, deep, mellow tone and is the best piano made in America for the price. Last of all, but not least, is the famous Hardman Piano, known the world over for its excellent tone and fine action. Too much cannot be said in its favor. You will make no mistake in selecting a piano from these noted, well-known pianos. A child can buy a good piano from this list and make no mistake, for the reason that there are no upright pianos built that will excel them for the money. I have no pianos to give away and no schemes to entice you, but can give you great bargains on every piano sold and no guesswork about it. This is easy, Oh! so easy, and I will tell you how it is done. Just let me know that you are in want of a piano. You buy direct from the factory; thus saving the store and incidental expenses which are cut off the purchase price. Your piano is brand new. You get no pianos that have been used or scratched. Call me up by New Phone 775 or write me telling me to call, that you are in want of a good piano.

Wireless Telegraphy on Trains.

Barvarian railroad trains are to be equipped with wireless telegraphy like ocean steamers, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The ministry of state railways has decided to install Marconi telegraphy on some of its trains to transmit orders and signals. There have been extensive experiments of short distance wireless telegraphy made on Bavarian roads near Munich, which are said to have been successful. While the minister of railroads was on one of the trains a message was transmitted to him from Berlin, 200 miles distant. The receiver was fitted on the locomotive of the train. The apparatus to be installed will permit not only of the receipt of messages while the train is in motion, but also of the sending of dispatches. The engineer is notified that a message is to be sent by a bell signal, and a few seconds later the signal appears on a paper band. Instead of a mast for sending and receiving, which is obviously impossible on a railroad, a number of sensitive points were fixed on the locomotive.

New Canning Scheme.

An improved method of canning meat and vegetables is coming into use in England. The cans are made and hermetically closed without the use of soldering or lead. The edges overlap and are pressed together, forming a perfectly air-tight joint.

Winged Foe of Pet Canaries.

Charleston (S. C.) pet canaries are being killed by a bird that is known as the "liggerhead." A loggethead strikes at the canaries through the bars of the cage.

LA FOLLETTE TO APPEAR TONIGHT

MEETING AT THE OPERA HOUSE PROMISES LARGE ATTENDANCE.

WILL FAVOR MR. LENROOT

Senator Will Also Discuss the Political Questions of the Day—Many Interested.

This evening at eight o'clock Senator Robert M. La Follette, junior senator of the state, will speak at the Myers Grand Opera house on the political issues of day. Senator La Follette will arrive in the city at six-thirty from Evansville where he speaks this afternoon and will be met at the depot by V. P. Richardson and escorted to his residence as his guest while in the city. Senator La Follette spoke this afternoon at Stoughton and has been having a strenuous week throughout the western portion of the state.

SENATOR ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE

Large Audience.
It is expected that a large audience will greet the senator owing to his prominence and the question he is to discuss. The candidacy of Irving Lenroot for governor on the republican ticket has been espoused by the senator and he is doing his best to induce his hearers to believe as he does. V. P. Richardson will introduce the speaker and while no formal reception will be given him, doubtless many of the senator's friends will remain after the speech to speak with him. La Follette is a tireless worker and shuns receptions when he has work to do and his hard trip today with three speeches have precluded any dinner or reception that might have been tendered him.

Will be Interested.
Many who attend tonight's address will doubtless be urged by the desire to see what the senator has to say in excuse for his part in the state campaign after bitterly arraigning other federal office holders in the past of taking similar parts. They will also be interested to learn why the senator selected Lenroot as his standard bearer and who the other state candidates are he is supporting. During the past week the audiences that have greeted the senator have been up to the usual that met him in the past.

INDIANS IN CAMP AT HO-NO-NE-GAH PARK

Fifteen or Twenty of the Winnebago Tribe Will Pitch Their Wigwags There Tomorrow.

Beginning Sunday, Aug. 19th, a tribe of 15 to 20 real Winnebago Indians will live at Ho-No-Ne-Gah park as they did 100 years ago, showing all the Indian customs and pastimes. You can see braves, squaws and papooses as they appeared in their primitive life. This tribe of Indians camped on these same grounds years ago. Don't miss this interesting sight. Half-hour car service; cheap rate, 65¢ round trip.

Dr. Jas. B. Watson Lectures Tuesday Evening, Aug. 21st.

Rev. John Thompson, A. M., Ontario, Canada, Dr. Watson's toast in a glass of water to the memory of Robert Burns, Scotland's immortal bard, is one of the classics of modern times. Dr. Jas. B. Watson will deliver his famous lecture—"Wine, Water, Women, Wit, and Wisdom"—at Myers opera-house, Tuesday evening, Aug. 21st. The lecture will begin at 8 o'clock. Tickets, 25¢.

Leslie Withington Dick
Funeral services of the late Leslie Withington Dick will be held at Oak Hill chapel Monday afternoon at four o'clock.

Rockford Chautauqua at Harlem Park starts Sunday, Aug. 19. 60¢ round trip. Take interurban cars every half hour.

BADLY SHOCKED BY A LIGHTNING BOLT

Henry Swanson and Anton and Elmer Pierson Were Unconscious For Some Time.

While the storm was raging last evening a bolt of lightning struck a tree in the vicinity of a spot near Afton where Henry Swanson, Anton Pierson, and his son Elmer Pierson were camping, and so severely stunned them that they were unconscious for some time. They had been camping there for the past few days and the tree which was struck was within four feet of their headquarters. Several limbs were broken from the tree but in falling did not hit them. They say they do not know how long they remained unconscious, but when they awoke, they tried to rise, they found themselves numb and unable to walk. They had a small tent which was the only protection from the storm.

BASHFORD PLANS TO SPEAK HERE

NOTED MADISON ATTORNEY WILL BE HEARD SHORTLY
IN JANESVILLE.

IN BEHALF OF DAVIDSON

Meeting Will Be Arranged For the Last Week in August Are Present Plans.

Former State Senator R. M. Bashford, of Madison, one of Senator La Follette's former staunchest supporters and confidential advisors, and a talented speaker and prominent lawyer will speak in Janesville the last week in August, is the announcement made this morning. Mr. Bashford is a talented speaker and his coming here is in the interests of James Davidson in his fight for renomination. It is possible that Governor Davidson will also speak in the county at Orfordville, before the primaries, if a suitable date can be arranged and he will doubtless visit Janesville also.

Strong Men.
Governor Davidson is surrounded by a coterie of brilliant speakers in his present campaign, including Mr. Bashford, former Governor Hoard, B. F. Castle, and many of the former strongest La Follette followers. The La Follette element in Janesville is about evenly divided on the governorship question and the balance appears to be in Davidson's favor.

Date Not Certain.
While August 30th has been spoken of as the possible date for Mr. Bashford's appearance here, the date is not yet certain and may be changed after Governor Davidson has been invited to appear here, but his plans are at present so unsettled that no definite time can be fixed if he comes at all.

Society..

That dozen or more crack golfers from the Elgin and Rockford clubs who are expected here tomorrow will leave the local players to look to their laurels, no one doubts. Janesville's team will probably include: Leo Brownell, Al Schaller, J. P. Baker, Chester Morse, Harry Carter, C. C. MacLean, A. P. Burnham, Charles Jago, and H. S. McGiffin.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Lambert returned this morning from their wedding tour, having visited Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul. They will spend a few days in this city before leaving for their future home in Beloit.

Thursday evening at the home of her parents, Judge and Mrs. C. L. Field, Miss Eloise Fifield entertained a company of sixteen young ladies in honor of Miss Wheeler of Boston, granddaughter of Mrs. L. F. Patton.

Mrs. Teresa Morgan and Miss Nellie Flood left last evening for a two weeks' visit in Milwaukee, after which they will go to De Kalb, where they will be the guests of relatives and friends.

Mrs. S. D. Moseley and children returned to Chicago this morning after an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lester, 5 Wheeler street.

Mrs. J. A. Kline and son, Murble, arrived here from Amboy, Ill., last evening and Mr. Kline came today. They will make Janesville their future home.

Miss Irene Nye has returned to her home in Kansas after a four weeks' visit with her aunt, Mrs. F. P. Child.

Misses Anna and Katherine Blank depart tomorrow morning for a two weeks' visit in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Mrs. Sieverman and daughter, Bennington, from Chicago, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blank and family.

Miss Myrtle Milton left this noon on a few days' visit with friends and relatives in Freeport and Dakota, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Child and daughter are spending a few days at their cottage at Lake Koshkonong.

Mrs. Olson, wife of the postmaster at De Kalb, is the guest of Mrs. W. B. Atwood for a few days.

Miss Bessie Kellef of Edgerton is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Floyd Danwidie in this city.

Miss Mary Gage is spending a few days with Miss Ada Johnson in Stoughton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fifield left this morning for an outing at Lake Kegonsa.

Mrs. F. F. Stevens has returned from a visit in Milwaukee.

C. John Hager leaves Monday for a visit in Chicago and South Haven.

MARRIED.

Streeter-Wilkinson.
Miss Hazel Streeter and William N. Wilkinson, both of this city, were married this afternoon at half past one o'clock at the Methodist church parsonage. Rev. J. H. Tippet performed the ceremony and the young people were attended by Mrs. C. S. Kelsey and Joseph A. Taylor. Entertained the wedding of the bride and groom's father, from Belvidere, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson departed at three o'clock on a wedding trip, after which they will make their home with Mrs. Graham on South Main St.

Percy Northrup.
The funeral of the late Percy Northrup, who was killed in California last Tuesday will be held in Paw Paw, Michigan, Monday at 11:45 a. m. Mr. Emmett Northrup, the father, left this morning to attend the service, and the brother, Sidney, will leave tomorrow.

For Drunkenness: For drunkenness Frank Fisher was this morning fined $1 and costs in municipal court. He paid the same.

AUTOMOBILES OWNED IN THREE CITIES

Janesville Has 27, Beloit Has 30, and Rockford Possesses 200 of the Puff-Wagons.

Although the tax rolls of the three largest cities along the Rockford, Beloit and Janesville interurban show Janesville to have the least number of automobiles, some of the most expensive and best touring cars are found in this city. Beloit has 30 automobiles, Janesville, 27, and Rockford, 200. Some will doubtless wonder at the lead which Rockford has in the number, but this city is two or three times as large as either Beloit or Janesville and is a center of much wealth. Besides it has a flourishing automobile club which serves to create interest in the sport. Cars of all types are found on its streets, no style seeming to have much advantage over the other, while in Beloit the small electric runabout has come into great favor and bids fair to be the predominating type. In Janesville the large touring car is much in evidence, as it is in Rockford. And in becoming the stock of autos and in fact, the Rockford club has had such an influence should arouse the automobile owners in this city to action in forming an enthusiastic club which could unite with the club at Rockford and a club at Beloit in arranging for a tournament or races for next season.

Burned Out The Meter: During the electrical storm of yesterday afternoon the meter on the motor at the Kent Corn Planting Works was burned out by a bolt of lightning which struck near. Other similar accidents occurred about the city.

Men's Meeting at Y. M. C. A.
The meetings for men at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday are being held at the usual hour, 3 to 4 p. m. A. M. Ivey has been secured for the meeting tomorrow and a profitable hour is promised to all those who hear him. These meetings are helpful as opportunities are given all to take part. Come and exchange your best thoughts with other men. They need you and you need them.

WEATHER.
Temperature 24 hours taken U. S. registered thermometer at Helm street's drug store: 7 a. m., 70; 3 p. m., 84; highest, 84; lowest, 63; wind, southeast, pleasant.

NEWS OF CITY IN BRIEF.

Round trip to Harlem Park, 60¢. Sunday, Aug. 19, on account of Rockford Chautauqua opening.

For headaches, nausea, car and sea sickness, take Celery-To-Mo.

Geo. H. Goebel, national organizer of the Socialist party will speak here Tuesday, Aug. 21st, and Wednesday, Aug. 22, Corn Exchange, 8:00 p. m.

Return of the Nelson-Gans fight, Sept. 3 for the lightweight championship of the world, will be received at "The Brook", 35 E. Milwaukee St., Garvin & Van Houten.

Governor Harris arrived at Camp Patterson, Strasburg, Ohio, early yesterday and was accorded an enthusiastic reception. He is scheduled to hold a conference with former Governor Herrick and Senator Dick.

Robert Farnack, a Rockford, Wis. business man, has been missing since Saturday. He went to Elroy to make collections, where all trace was lost. Paul play is feared.

The twin city Chautauqua opened at Urbana, Ill., yesterday.

Buy it in Janesville.

A Great Piano Sale.
The Story & Clark Piano Co. came to this city some weeks ago to advertise and sell their pianos. Feeling that they have now accomplished their purpose, they are going to close out the balance of their stock at almost unheard of prices, rather than stand the expense of packing and paying freight back to their headquarters. Profit cuts no figure; their sole object is to dispose of the stock. In order to feel assured that startling prices will prevail during the sale, it is only necessary to state that a new Bradford & Co. piano, regular price $225 at only $127.50. Easy payment can be made on all purchases.

For Clerk of Court.
To the public: I desire to announce my candidacy for nomination for the office of Clerk of the Court on the republican ticket at the September primaries. WARD A. STEVENS.

Few Roses In Lives of Players

The Man With the Dough Bag Is Baseball King.

When Is a Manager Not a Manager?—Nearly Always.

There are few people who really know of just how little real importance a baseball player is unless they happen to be "put wise" by some good friend who knows the ropes.

Out on the field, of course, it is the player who does the brilliant stunts, and he is the man in the public eye, but greater than the hero is the man who counts the coin.

When the man behind the coin counts, he says "Hump!" the player lumps, and when he doesn't then he drops into the cheap restaurant, where food does not cost so much. When he gets on good terms with the money king he eats in more attractive places.

But the man with the coin is the king. There is no denying that fact, and the more that baseball becomes a business the more kingly he becomes.

Managers have largely ceased to be managers. In most cases they are merely flatterers. Off the field capitalists, who keep the players in condition, see to it that they don't get grouchy, watch their play and suggest the necessary changes in batting order and in lineup. They may tip the owners off to good players, but after all they suggest, and that is about all. Players are totally dependent on the man behind the money counter. A player signs a contract for life. It isn't quite nice to think about and talk about, but he virtually says when he signs a contract, "I am your man Friday as long as you want me."

It is like marrying. A man ties up for life, and death is almost the only relief possible. Year after year that man has got to tie up with the same club with which he started off, provided, of course, that the club wants him.

It is a kind of one sided compact, however. The club takes the man on trial. If he makes good, he is kept until he becomes bad. Then he is told to transport his belongings to other quarters.

The man has no option in the matter. Each year before a certain time of the season he is tendered a contract by the club. If he does not get the tender before the time fixed, then he is free to sign where he wants. The club which owned him has given him his liberty, has cut the ropes that tied him.

When he gets the offer of so much salary he has to accept or refuse. If he accepts he is supposed to work the limit for what he is paid, and while he may get a raise during the year the "man" is entirely problematical.

If he decides he does not want the money offered him, thinks he is worth more, he probably negotiates with the club, sets forth his views. The owners may agree with him, and again they may not. If they don't he has to come to the club's terms, quit the game or play independent or outlaw ball. He can't play in the really green pastures.

Sometimes, of course, a player gets a club in a tight corner, and it has to have him. Then he can pretty near name his terms. But as a general rule the club gets the player in the tight corner. If the club needs good men, finds them hard to get, the fans get to kicking and the town gets hot, the club may come to the player's terms—again problematical.

Some players are able to sign a non-reserve clause contract—that is, they don't have to play with one team but a year and then are free to go where they choose. But the majority of leagues have barred non-reserve clause contracts. The Southern doing so last year.

When a player reports for duty he does not report for pay until the opening of the league season. As a general rule, he works for one whole month to get into shape without receiving a cent of salary.

The Roundup By Willie West

Sport Critic Dips His Pen In Acid and Frees His Mind.

I see that Fred A. Wenck, the New York sporting editor and near-athlete, has come out in defense of President Harry C. Pulliam of the National League. Well, that serves Pulliam right.

"Gym" Bagley, the pugilistic authority, writer and near-humorist, also defends Pulliam. That serves Pulliam right too.

P. S.—Birds of a feather flock together.

The New York National baseball management, through too much trickery, disappointed 12,000 loyal rooters recently and didn't return their money when the game with Chicago was forfeited. Say, Jesse James was an amateur and Captain Kidd was only a misguided philanthropist compared to this performance. Even the national game can't stand "deals" like this.

Know a man by the company he works for.

There are two kinds of really safe bets—the kind you intended to make and didn't, and those that you decided not to make at all.

"Did you go to the horse races in Paris?" I asked of a traveler.

"No," he replied, "but I saw a close race in Glasgow."

"What race was that?"

"The Scotch."

Adrian C. Anson wants to be sheriff of Cook county, Ill. Anse has been looking for trouble all his life and finding it, and if he gets the sheriff's job he'll find more.

I see that eight amateur yachtsmen were drowned in one day in New Jersey waters recently. This is a gloomy record, but the plea of "contributory negligence" will relieve the gods of wind and water of all blame.

The number of fool yachtsmen is legion, and they all "know it all." Tell them to put in a reef and they say, "Back up, you're an old woman." Tell them to take down all sail and anchor in a thunderstorm and they say, "We're sailors, not corn shuckers." Tell them not to make fast the main sheet in squally weather and they say, "Rats, a four ton boat 'I stand anything." Tell them not to run in on the wrong side of a channel buoy and they say, "Oh, there's always thirty or forty feet of good water inside a

His first professional engagement, however, was in 1886, when he signed to play third base for the Little Rock (Ark.) team. In 1887 he accepted an engagement with the Lynn club of the New England league. In 1888 he joined the Wilkesbarre (Pa.) club of the Central league.

W. H. Holbert, the veteran player and umpire, recommended Corcoran highly to Manager Hanlon, who engaged him in 1890 for his Pittsburgh team of the Players' league. Of course not, if the cabin door is water tight, and so makes the cabin an air chamber. But how many cabins are water tight, and when a boat capsizes who has time to shut a cabin door or close a slide, and who, in such an exciting moment, thinks of shutting the cabin door or of anything else but how to get to a place of safety?

Why doesn't the Jockey club, if it is the pure white souled body it claims to be, come to life and tell Cella where he can buy a ticket back home? Is the amount paid for the privilege of operating his "books" so big that the Jockey club (which controls running racing in the east) CAN'T AFFORD TO LOSE IT? OF course not. But maybe it is so big that the Jockey club DOES NOT WANT TO LOSE IT.

Two Able Baseball Veterans

Tom Corcoran, the Famous Old Cincinnati Shortstop.

William Sullivan, Star Catcher of the Chicago Americans.

Not long ago a Cincinnati newspaper printed the following lines at the head of a story:

"Much more regret will be felt at the passing of Tom Corcoran, who has probably played his last game with the Cincinnati Reds."

But Thomas W. Corcoran, the veteran National league shortstop, fooled the writer of his anticipatory obituary notice. Tom is still in the game and is

WATER A UNIVERSAL REMEDY.

Fluid Is Declared to Have Great Healing Properties.

There is no remedy of such general application and none so easily obtained as water, and yet little persons out of ten will pass it by in an emergency to seek for something of less efficacy, says the National Magazine. There are but few cases of illness where water should not occupy the highest place as a remedial agent.

A strip of flannel or a napkin folded lengthwise and wrung out of hot water and applied around the neck of a child who has croup, will usually bring relief in a few minutes. A towel folded several times, then quickly wrung out of hot water and immediately applied over the seat of the pain in toothache or neuralgia, will afford prompt relief. This treatment in colic works like magic. Cases on record having resisted other treatment for hours, have yielded to this treatment in ten minutes. Pieces of cotton batting dipped in hot water, then applied to all sores and new cuts, bruises and sprains, is the treatment now generally adopted in hospitals. Hot water taken freely a half hour before bedtime is an excellent cathartic in the case of constipation, while it has a most soothing effect on the stomach and bowels. This treatment continued for a few months, together with proper attention to diet, will alleviate mild cases of dyspepsia.

DREW UP CONNUBIAL TREATY.

French Wife Made a Strict Compact With Her Husband.

Mme. Durier, who rolls cigarettes in the State monopoly tobacco factories of France, having been badly treated by her husband, Alphonse, would consent to live with him only on condition that he sign the following compact:

"Article I.—I shall keep all money, and I will no longer give you any account of my expenditure as I used to do like a fool. It is the husband who must tell his wife what he spends."

"Article II.—You must let me do what I like. I must shop as I like, and you shall not say I am extravagant."

"Article III.—I will not receive any of your friends and will not go to see any of them. Our only outing will be to the theater on condition that you don't quarrel about the omnibus fares, as you generally do."

"Article IV.—When I happen to be unwell, and knock off work you shall not call me lazybones."

"Article V.—I like your mother, but will not be compelled to go and see her."

Alphonse signed the compact, but soon broke it, and the wife, proving cruelty, has just got a divorce.

Culture of Bolivia.

La Paz, which is the center of what culture exists in Bolivia, is admitted by the authorities to contain 99 per cent of illiterates, and doubtless the estimate is as favorable as possible. Several Roman Catholic schools exist, where a narrow elementary education is given; also a university with various departments, including law, medicine and theology. Several able physicians practice in the city, but they were educated in foreign schools. The theological department receives its crude material from almost any source, and many of the priests are liberally supplied with Indian blood, some of them low-browed, immoral loafers, whom any amount of training would never convert into men of high ideals.

The Prado is a wide street converted into a promenade by eucalyptus and other trees, and several creditable statues and fountains; it provides a very refreshing retreat from the motley crowds of the streets.—The Outlook Magazine.

Youthful Solicitude.

Little Julia at three years of age had become a little question-box. She had made up her little mind to know all about the round bright moon—how it hung there on high, who put it there, who lighted it each night. The simplest way to answer her was the easiest, so she was told God hung it there each night and took it in each morning. One evening after hisping her prayers she looked out of the window and saw the moon shining brightly but about to be shut in by a heavy bank of rain clouds. In her fear that something would happen to her precious moon she suddenly exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, look! It's going to rain, and God forgot to take in the moon."

Rather Poor Boast.

They had quarreled again. "Perhaps you are not aware," she said, "that I had over a dozen proposals of marriage before I accepted yours."

He flushed.

"And perhaps, 'madam,' he retorted haughtily, 'you are not aware that I proposed to nearly 20 women before I became acquainted with yourself.'"

CHAPTER VII.

THE FLIGHT.

In the first faint gray of dawn Joe Balfour hurried home from Catalina's caisson.

"Lucky thing," he muttered, "that nobody saw it."

He was a lawyer; such affairs as this were part of his routine, and Joe had come to look upon them with a coldly professional eye. As he drew nearer to the old brick house where Duke awaited him, his mouth closed firmly. "But it's a pretty tough lesson."

He opened the door softly and went to his room. Duke was sitting in the same chair, in the same position as when Joe left him.

The Duke of Devil-May-Care was no coward—physical or moral—and he had been looking squarely into the face of the thing that he had done.

"Well, Joe?" he glanced up inquiringly.

For a few moments the lawyer did not speak. When he had taken off his gloves and laid his overcoat across the bed, he turned as deliberately as if his friend were merely a casual client seeking advice.

"Noel, you must lie low for a day or two and see what happens; at least until you sober up."

"Sober up? I'm sober. What do you think it takes to straighten a fellow?"

"You are devilish lucky; not a human being saw you, or knows that you were there. I don't believe they could ever prove that you went into that saloon. The man was a stranger and has no friends to make a row. By the way, what did you do with your overcoat?"

Duke tried hard to think, then gave it up and looked helplessly at Joe.

"I don't know. I can't remember much until I saw that man drop. After that everything is clear enough. Was it cold last night?"

"Cold enough for me to wear my coat."

"Oh, well, I may have checked it in the hotel; maybe I left it at the saloon. Look here, Joe, don't you worry about me, old fellow. He stood up and faced the other man. "It's nobody's fault but mine, and I've been thinking it all out. I mixed up with that crowd deliberately, and now I won't whine or lie about it. But Joe, I want you to believe me, I did not mean to kill that poor devil; he was too drunk to hurt me, even if he did have a fork in his hand—he couldn't stand up. I came to town in a bad temper, mad at everybody and everything—that's all there is to it. Now I'm going to give myself up and take my medicine. It can't be worse than what I took last night. I tell you, Joe, hell is right here inside of us, and a fellow can't get away from himself, no matter how hard he tries. I've done a lot of thinking since you went away."

Joe looked at him in blank surprise; he never supposed that Duke could take this view of the situation.

"But, Noel, you don't understand what that means—"

"Yes, I do; I can't hide; I had enough of that last night. I've done foolish things, I know, but they've been right out in the open where everybody could see. I've never been a sneak, and I won't begin it now."

"You're a fool; you won't even be suspected."

"Yes, I have been a fool, a great fool; but now I'm going to be a man."

"Do you realize what will happen—the penitentiary, the gallows, disgrace? You shall not do it; you are going to stay in the cellar for awhile, and sleep here with me. Jim will wait on you, and even these people in the house will never know it."

Duke shook his head. "I can't be disgraced any more than I am. It is simply a question of having people know about it, and I don't mind that. If I know it, that's sufficient; the rest doesn't matter."

"This drove Joe Balfour to a better argument."

"Oh, by the way," he said, and began fumbling in the pocket of his dress coat. He took out a letter with the Gibraltar club monogram on its back. Duke watched him listlessly until he saw that the envelope was addressed to himself, in Anita's hand. He sprang up, but Joe held the letter behind him.

"Wait a minute, Noel, let me tell you. Last night Miss Cameron sat out two or three figures with me, in the writing room, and we got to talking about you. She caught a glimpse of you yesterday on the street and thought, of course, you'd come to the cotton—"

Duke snatched the note away, walked to the window, and his hand trembled as he opened it. Something fell out and fluttered to the floor—a withered jonquil.

He stooped to pick it up, with such a smile as Joe had never seen before. Heedless of any other presence he touched the flower to his lips, and began to read:

"My Dear Mr. Duke. Don't be angry; I couldn't help it. Indeed I couldn't. My aunt hurried me off so unexpectedly that I had no way of letting you know. There's some money in the letter; she's been suffering wretchedly for a day or two, but she's better now. I saw you going out to that horrid old rooster-fight. You did just to make me feel that I was the cause of it."

"Who was your friend? The one in the red jacket? You associate with some very distinguished-looking people. The one that went with you?"

"You must come and get down on your knees before I will forgive you. I wouldn't tell you to save your life that I am going to Nannie Keever's precisely at 11 to-morrow."

S.—Here is your jonquil—you understand?

Duke did understand; it glorified—and crushed him. He stood at the window staring into vacancy, then came back slowly and took his seat before the fire.

Joe sat on the edge of the bed and watched him; he seemed to be thinking very hard. Duke turned his head with a jerk and asked: "Joe, when a fellow is arrested they search him, don't they?"

"Yes."

It took him a long time to make up his mind, then he commenced tearing Anita's note into strips, and laid them on the fire. The jonquil he kept. His lips quivered as he watched the fragments shrivel, flame up and crackle into dead black ashes.

Then he dropped his face into his hands and sobbed like a child.

Joe stretched out his kindly arm, and had almost put it around the other's shoulder, but he drew back, turned to the mirror and began a most fastidious combing of his hair.

The man in the chair rocked to and fro.

"She doesn't say a word about Vance," he thought. "I don't believe it; I won't believe it, unless she tells me herself." He rocked again, and presently he smiled—smiled at the very beauty of the faith that there was in him.

Suddenly he sprang erect, with blazing eyes.

"Joe, I wish that infernal old woman were in hell, and I had the receipt for her."

"You shouldn't speak so of a lady—"

"I know it, I know it, but I'm tired of being so polite; I'm going to be honest for awhile. Sometimes a man must say what he thinks, or choke. She's wrecked both of us—"

Joe said nothing; Duke sank into the chair again.

"Well, I'm no baby to blame somebody else. It's too late."

When Joe had arranged his necktie, and combed his hair with maddening deliberation, he came and took the seat beside Duke.

"Now, Noel," he said, in that quiet tone of his which precluded argument, "there's a big cellar under this house. You must keep out of sight to-day and wait developments. Jim will take your meals to you. When I come home to dinner we'll decide what is best. Come, now, it's break fast time."

Without a word of protest Duke followed into the entry. Joe lifted the cellar door and led the way down a narrow flight of steps. He had half disappeared when Duke stopped.

"Hold on, Joe, I'm mixing you up in this thing now. Isn't this some sort of a crime?"

"Accessory after the fact—that's all."

"I won't do it—I won't."

"Yes, you will." Joe caught his sleeve and dragged him down. "Think of her." Then Duke went down into the darkness.

After some little time, Joe reascended the stair alone. He let the cellar door drop into place. For a moment or two he stood there undecided, as if he had half a mind to open it again. Then he shook his head and went away.

About half-past two in the afternoon Joe's returning steps rang sharply on the flags. Before he reached his front door, Jim, the negro man, had opened it.

"He's gone, Mister Joe, I jes couldn't keep him no longer."

"Gone?"

"Yassir, went away 'bout '12 o'clock; here's de note what he left."

Joe tore it open and read, scribbled in pencil:

CUSTOM OF TUBLESS TIMES

Minute Milky Bath of Other Days Was Quite a Modest Social Affair.

Tubbing is almost as recent a custom as telegraphing. At least it is so in France, where, even at this time, bathtubs are objects of awe and wonder to the populace in general.

Something more than a century ago things were even worse, if one may depend on the veracity of a writer in the Cornhill Magazine. According to his unvarnished tale of a fashionable woman's habits, her maid with her chocolate-rinsed hair, about 11, and she forthwith "took a plunge" into that society in which she worked, thought, played, ate, drank and died at last.

It is painful to add that she very seldom took a plunge into anything but society. The king's ablutions consisted of dipping the royal fingers into rose water and drying them daintily on a napkin; and to go beyond one's monarch in a desire for cleanliness would have been a lapse of taste indeed.

Baths were certainly not unknown—milky baths, so that madame need not suffer the gloom and depression of solitude even then—but the idea of soap in connection with them is one which the closest student of eighteenth century memoirs and manners will rarely if ever come across. He will be familiar, on the other hand, by description and in old curiosity shops with the painfully minute ewer and basin in which fashion did homage to cleanliness.

There was no particular reason, then, why madame should not make her toilet in public, and she did.

ODD CHURCH MEMORIALS.

Garlands Hung Up in English Sanctuaries to Girls True to Their First Love.

There are seven "virgin's garlands" still in existence in Minsterley church, Suop, the first of them bearing the date 1554 and the last 1751, says the London Daily Graphic.

They consist of silk ribbon and paper, ball-shaped, and are covered with rosettes, the inside center of the care wire frame supporting a pair of paper gloves. They represent a romantic custom of very ancient origin, and are sacred to the memory of girls who, while betrothed in their youth, lost their intended husbands by death, yet remained true to their first loves.

Each maiden designed her own garland, and at her death this simple emblem was borne before her by the village lassies, the white gloves being afterward added. After the obsequies these garlands were suspended in the village church on a rod bearing at its extremity a heart in the shape of an escutcheon, upon which the initials and date were inscribed. These were originally fixed above the maiden's feet.

Some of the earliest and forgotten garlands were composed of real flowers, but later the covered hoops described were substituted.

There is a passing allusion to this "simple memorial of the early dead" in "Hamlet." "Yet here she is, a loved her virgin-cranes," "crants," signifying garlands.

DRESS OF ROYAL MISSES.

Many Daughters of Nobility Are Exceedingly Modest and Simple in Their Attire.

People sometimes wonder what sum is put aside for dress by the daughters of royal houses, says the London Tatler.

Before her marriage, I read the other day, the duchess of Fife was said to have a small dress allowance, and the sum of $1,500 a year was mentioned. Besides yachting and every-day dresses, and all the usual costumes required by a girl of the upper class, royal princesses have also to wear the costly and elaborate dresses which their rank demands at the weddings of their near relations.

On the whole, it may be asserted that a frugal princess may spend as little as $5,000 a year on her dress, while her more wealthy and extravagant sister may find her dress bills amount to ten times that sum.

The empress of Russia, who more than any other European lady is able to indulge her wildest fancies, dresses with the greatest simplicity—in the daytime mostly in tailor-made coats and skirts; in the evening generally in the purest white.

Philosophy from Kansas.

Nobody knows what produces earthquakes, although it is often claimed that they do. The earth quakes somewhere every day. Nobody knows when the earth came or when it will go, where it came from, how it came or how it happened to be here. The fact is, when you get down to the truth, nobody knows anything about anything—past, present or to come—and about the only way to get along in this know-nothing world is not to try to know very much.—Eldorado Republican.

High-Priced Flowers.

The record Easter price for flowers went to a florist on upper Fifth avenue. For an azalea measuring about four feet across the top he received $500. On the bush were both white and pink blossoms, and in that peculiarity was supposed to reside the great worth of the plant.—N. Y. Sun.

Headache Causes and a Cure

Blood pressure or congestion is a rushing of blood to the front of the head, causing a headache. To cure instantly and positively, this pressure must be relieved and the blood sent to its proper channels. Dr. Shoop's Headache Cure does this. It puts into circulation congested blood, cleanses and relieves the nerves. In blood tablets form—pleasant to take. Suffered for all headache. For sale and recommended by

MARVELS IN STEAMERS

Two Now Building to Cross the Atlantic in Half a Week.

WILL HAVE FOUR SCREWS EACH

Turbine Vessels For Cunard Line to Be Longest Boats in the World, Measuring Eight Hundred Feet—Can Carry Two Thousand Passengers. Furnishings and Appointments Will Be the Finest of Any Ships Afloat.

A steamer that could run away from a subway express train and race over the seas from New York to Queenstown in three days and eighteen hours, or there and back in a week!

Shipbuilders who predicted this a decade ago were scoffed at, but it will be an accomplished fact when the Cunard line's monster vessels, the Lusitania and Mauritania, begin their ocean-express traffic next winter, says the New York Evening World.

The world sat up and marveled at the performances of the Deutschland and Luedwig, but the new turbine steamships of the Cunard line will be able to pass them on the ocean almost as if they were anchored. Moreover, they will be the longest boats in the world by almost 100 feet, broader than any of the German vessels, and at the same time possessing the shapely lines of the greyhounds like the Lusitania.

The Lusitania is now building on the Clyde and the Mauritania on the Tyne. The former will be launched in May and her sister ship a few months later. Both will be equipped to carry traffic before next Christmas. They are expected to develop a speed of thirty-one statute miles an hour, making it possible to cover the distance of 2,800 miles from New York to Queenstown in three days and eighteen hours.

The new turbine steamers are 770 feet long between perpendiculars, or 900 feet counting in the stern overhang. The Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, now the longest steamship in the world, is 705 feet long, with a breadth of 80 feet. The Cunard twins have 88 feet breadth, and even then they will compare with the German boat as a Sandy Hook flyer might with a ferryboat, so fine and clean are their lines.

Unlike the Carmania, the turbine of the Cunard fleet recently put in commission, the Lusitania and her sister are being built for speed. The younger and smaller boat was an experiment in steamship building, the first object being to make the vessel one of singular comfort without seeking for any great development of speed.

The Lusitania will develop almost four times the horsepower in her engines that has been developed in the Carmania. The latter's horsepower is 21,000. The new turbines will have four engines, each capable of developing 18,000 horsepower, or 72,000 horsepower in all. The most powerful vessel afloat today is the Deutschland. Her horsepower is 37,500.

"Our two new boats," said Captain James Bernie Watt, senior master, or commodore of the Cunard fleet, "mark a great stride in advance over modern steamships as boats like our Lusitania and the Baltic of the White Star fleet did over the Embury type. They will be monster vessels, but as slender and taut in their lines as the Lusitania. They will be the true type of ocean grayhound."

Each vessel will be equipped with four turbine screws, two way aft and two about forty or fifty feet forward. So much has been given up to the development of speed that the Lusitania and her sister will not have any greater cargo-carrying capacity than several other smaller steamships of the day.

Both boats will be built with a capacity of 26 knots an hour—that is, about 31 statute miles. The Lusitania is capable of 22 knots, and I believe that the Deutschland is a knot faster. The Lusitania will have double the number of boilers and furnaces of the Lusitania, but because of the simplicity of the turbine engines the engine room force will not be appreciably greater.

"I believe that in smooth water these turbines will be able to go 27 knots an hour, or a little more than 32 miles. The Lusitania has made 23 knots in smooth water. The new turbines will eat up 1,000 tons of coal in a day and will carry 6,500 tons in their bunkers. The Lusitania will have a tonnage of 23,000 tons, against the 25,000 of the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, the 16,000 of the Deutschland, and the 12,950 of the Lusitania. She will have a displacement of more than 40,000.

"You may have some idea of the bigness of these new boats when I say, metaphorically speaking, that they might swing the biggest battleship in the world at their stern. The new Cunard twins will carry 600 first class, 400 second class and about 1,000 third class passengers. Their interior furnishings and appointments will be the finest of any ships in the world. All of the woodwork will be of mahogany, walnut and satin wood. There will be a system of elevators carrying the passengers up and down the greater part of the ship's depth of sixty feet. The new turbines will have four funnels."

Remarkable Motor Car Feat.

Charles Jarrott recently drove up the noted mountain, Arthur's Seat, Edinburgh, on a twenty-two horsepower motor car, carrying six passengers, says The Bits. Mr. Jarrott ascended to a height of 1,400 feet, where the party was photographed. This is the first ascent of Arthur's Seat ever made by an automobile. The gradient of the hill in places approaches one in four, with numerous precipitous turns, and no other vehicle has ever climbed Arthur's Seat or Salisbury crags.

MEXICANS BARRED FROM TEXAS SOIL

RAILROAD LABORERS CANNOT BE IMPORTED.

CONTRACT APPEAL LOST

Effort to Have Department Construe Law So as to Admit Unskilled Workmen from Neighboring Republic Proves Futile.

Washington, Aug. 18.—An important question respecting the importation of labor from Mexico into the United States for work on railroad construction in Texas has been determined by the department of justice at the instance of the department of commerce and labor. The question was whether men employed as laborers on ordinary railroad construction were "skilled" or "unskilled," in the meaning of the law. The department of justice, through an opinion rendered by Acting Attorney General Charles H. Robb, has decided that the men are "unskilled," laborers and that, therefore, cannot under the law be admitted into the country under contract.

Mexicans Denied Admission.
On June 9, 1906, Doretto Arellanes, a Mexican, applied for admission at El Paso, Texas, and was debarred by a board of special inquiry on the ground that he was a contract laborer, and that his entry into the United States was in violation of the immigration act approved March 1, 1903. An appeal was taken at the instance of J. E. Hutt, who has a contract to furnish labor to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, and the Fort Worth and Denver City railroads, all east of Albuquerque, N. M., and George H. Mosher, who has a similar contract for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad west of Albuquerque as far as the Pacific coast.

On June 25, 1906, Sebastian Sotelo was denied admission at El Paso by a board of special inquiry under the alien contract labor law. The appeal was taken at the instance of the Ben Heney company, of Tucson, Ariz., which has a contract to furnish labor for the Southern Pacific between El Paso and San Jose on the coast line and to Fresno on the Valley line.

Question of Skilled Labor.
The question involved the construction of the term "skilled labor" in section 2 of the immigration act of March 3, 1903, it being contended by the appellants that laborers ordinarily employed in the construction and maintenance of the tracks of railroads were skilled laborers within the meaning of the term as used in the act, and that if labor of like kind could not be found unemployed in the United States, laborers of this class could be imported into the United States under contract.

Admission Would Nullify Law.
Acting Attorney General Robb, in his opinion, says: "It is probable experience demonstrated that very few skilled laborers were brought to this country under the provisions of section 5 of the act of 1885. For this reason when the law came to be amended in 1903 it was not deemed necessary to limit the exception to its operation to new industries as was the case in the original act. In other words, congress, recognizing the vast difference between skilled and unskilled labor, concluded that it might with perfect safety permit skilled labor to be imported in all cases where labor of like kind unemployed could not be found in this country." But no such exception was made in favor of the importation of unskilled labor. Indeed, to rule otherwise would, in effect, nullify the whole law.

Should Favor Home Labor.
"The act was designed and intended for the protection and security of the American laborer, whose welfare every patriotic citizen is bound to promote. Laws designed for his benefit should, if possible, be so construed as to effectuate rather than retard the objects for which they are enacted. "It is certainly not for the executive department of the government to nullify the will of congress because declining or failing to give the words of the act their natural and logical import. Especially is this true in a case involving the welfare of such a very large number of our own citizens. Moreover, it does not appear that since the enactment of this law in 1885 it has ever before been contended that unskilled alien contract labor could legally be imported.

Orders Aliens Deported.
"The determination of the question as to what is skilled and what is unskilled labor within the meaning of the law rests largely with you. I entertain no doubt, however, that ordinary hands, commonly employed in the construction and maintenance of tracks of railroads, are not skilled laborers within the meaning of the immigration act of March 3, 1903. Having reached the conclusion that they are not skilled laborers, it follows from what I have previously said that such laborers may not be imported into this country under contract in any event."

Immediately on receipt of the opinion, Acting Secretary Murray of commerce and labor dismissed the appeals of the aliens and ordered them to be deported.

CONFER ON NEW RATE LAW

RAILROAD OFFICIALS IN SESSION AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Action Does Not Surprise Commerce Commissioners, Who Urged Carriers to Comply With Statute.

Washington, Aug. 18.—"I am not surprised to learn that the attorneys of the railroads of the country are in consultation in order to reach a common conclusion as to the interpretation of the new rate law," said Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clements in an interview regarding the meeting of railroad officials in Atlantic City. "The commission," he said, "has urged upon all of the railroads the necessity for prompt compliance with the provisions of the new law and to this end has invited them to appoint committees of conference with the commission in respect particularly to the preparation and publication of tariffs and the keeping of account books, etc."

"Naturally, when the accountants, attorneys and traffic managers come together and confer as to what will be a compliance with the new law many contrary views arise that will require advice from the legal departments of the roads. If the carriers were acting with an eye single to complete and bona fide compliance with the law, the traffic managers necessarily would have recourse to their lawyers. It would follow, in turn, that in order to insure uniformity, the lawyers would want to confer among themselves. "Whether or not there be justification for the report that they are conferring with a view to defeating the purposes of the law, I am, of course, wholly unadvised. I would not assume any such purpose as that, simply because they are conferring which for the reasons stated would be perfectly reasonable and natural."

"It must be apparent to all, including even those railway men who have been inclined to regard the railways as a place of private property to be dealt with by the owners as they choose, that the time has come when what they do in their business, which involves the rights and interests of the public, must be an open book, so that they themselves may have the means of knowing whether or not they are protected and I do not believe the well advised railroad lawyers of the country will waste their time in attempting resistance to this well settled public purpose for the future."

HALF HUNDRED ARE ENTOMBED

Desperate Efforts to Rescue Men Caught by Cave-in in Tunnel.

Bristol, Va., Aug. 18.—Fifty men are entombed alive in the Clinch mountain tunnel at Clinchport, Va., as a result of a cave-in which occurred Friday. It is not known whether the men are dead or alive, but the work of rescue is being rushed as fast as possible. Air is being pumped in the tunnel by several pumps for a distance of 700 feet and a large force of men are working in an effort to rescue the unfortunate before they perish, if they are not already dead.

The cave-in occurred unexpectedly and it is not known who is responsible. The men entombed are chiefly natives of that mountainous section of southwest Virginia and the excitement and anxiety is intense. Men, women and children were at the mouth of the tunnel awaiting news of those dear to them inside, and pitiful scenes were enacted. Women screamed and wrung their hands and cried hysterically for fathers, brothers and loved ones who are imprisoned in the black hole.

LABOR FAMINE IN NORTHWEST

Agriculture and Industrial Sections Loudly Call for Help.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 18.—Scarcity of labor is the cry all over the northwest from the head of the lakes to the wheat fields of the Dakotas, where the demand has reached a critical stage. In many cases the farmers are offering from $2.50 to $3 per day and board and have not more than 50 per cent. of the labor they require. The same conditions are being experienced in all lines of industry, including the railroads, contractors and miners both on the range and in the copper country. The labor famine in the northwest is pronounced the worst in the history of the section.

HARLAN FOR INTERSTATE BOARD

President Selects Chicago Man to Complete Commission.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 18.—President Roosevelt Friday appointed James S. Harlan, of Chicago, a member of the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Harlan is a son of John M. Harlan, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. He is a lawyer and held for some time the position of attorney general of Porto Rico. The appointment of Mr. Harlan completes the membership of the commission as provided for under the new railroad rate law.

OLD HOME WEEK IN THE GRANITE STATE

New Hampshire's Sons and Daughters Assembled From Nearly Every State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Concord, N. H., Aug. 18.—The hills of New Hampshire will blaze with bonfires tonight to mark the opening of the state's eighth annual "Old Home" week. In city, town and country, from the Massachusetts line to the Canadian border, festivities will be held throughout the coming week to welcome home the sons and daughters who have found new homes in other states. Reports indicate the arrival of numerous visitors, already from Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, from the Southwest, from the region beyond the Rockies and even from the far western part of the Dominion, where many sons of the Granite State have taken up their homes during the last few years.

TO REVIVE PICNIC OF THE GROCERYMEN

Be Brought to Life Tuesday, The Twenty-Eighth.

On Monday morning two or more local grocers will begin a canvass of the grocerymen of the city, endeavoring to revive the annual grocerymen's picnic. They will visit every grocery merchant in the city, seeking to secure promises that all will close their stores on Tuesday, August twenty-eighth. If the concession is unanimously gained, arrangements for a picnic will be made. This will be under the management of several individuals rather than by the grocerymen's association, which formerly conducted the picnics. These celebrations in the good, old days rivaled the fourth of July festivities and Wood men picnics.

St. Paul Road.

The crew putting in the cement work for the turntable finished this morning and the bridge crew will probably start in tomorrow or Monday. The work will be completed and the table in running order by the middle of next week. Today the rails are being shortened that run from the pit and Supt. Kennedy has left James Nichols in charge.

Edward Mead is doing the office work during Miss Fox's absence. Engine number 546 has been taken off the new line to Chicago and is being held over for repairs. Engine number 702 has been taken off the dog run to take its place.

North-Western Road.
J. Palmer the fireman for the stationary engine was off yesterday and was relieved by James McCarthy.

Engine number 50 arrived here this morning after taking the second 504 to Chicago night before last.

Fireman Doane and Fireman Miller are on the extra list.

Fireman W. Smith returned to work this morning on switch engine 1040 after being relieved by Fireman G. Hiller.

Engineer Squires with engine 554 is relieving Engineer Thomas Scott with engine 53 on runs 528 and 529, Janesville to Madison.

STATE NOTES

The first sitting of the Wisconsin Supreme court this fall will be on Sept. 11. At this sitting the first cases on the August calendar will be taken up.

Mark Darsk, while asleep, walked from the second story window of his room at Chippewa Falls and fell to the ground. He is now in a hospital, but will recover. He was a sumner-bullist.

A telegram received at Chippewa Falls tells of the death of George Huber of that city in a railroad wreck near Auburn, Cal. His remains will be interred at Auburn.

Commissioners of the Yorkville and Raymond drainage canal in Racine county have commenced collecting assessments and have advertised for the construction of the canal, bids to be received on Sept. 10. The canal will be nine and one-half miles long.

Racine college will have the largest and best brass band of any similar educational institution in the northwest. The Rev. H. D. Robinson, war den, has announced that when the institution opens Sept. 27 there would be a band of from twenty to thirty pieces. Instruments have been ordered and Port. Burke of St. Louis has been engaged as bandmaster.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

General S. B. Baker of Huntington, W. Va., who is adjutant general of the state, will on Aug. 26 become general manager of the Parkersburg Dispatch-News, having purchased the interest held in the paper by J. W. Burchinal of Mountsville.

Mrs. Lillian McGee of Peru, Ind., is paralyzed as a result of receiving a severe shock from a bolt of lightning which damaged the residence of Marion Young, near here. Mrs. McGee was standing in the yard when the lightning struck.

Heard His Watch Tick

Mr. J. H. Brosius, of 235 Barrone St., New Orleans, a prominent manufacturer of that city's one of the latest to report a remarkable experience with the new medicines extolled by L. T. Cooper, whose work in various sections of the country has recently been exciting great interest.

Cooper's work with his medicines in New Orleans where it is said he actually made the deaf hear in three minutes in a public demonstration, was brought to Mr. Brosius' attention and, so the story goes, he secured a quantity of the medicines and began their use. In a statement recently made by him for publication he said: "Prior to my using Mr. Cooper's preparations I had been deaf for fifteen years and could hear but very little. I could not hear the tick of my watch and was really much surprised when after using several bottles of the medicines I could hear it distinctly. I have since used the remedies for stomach trouble and indigestion with the most gratifying results. Their effect upon certain ailments is wonderful and cannot be commended too highly."

The preparations are known as Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief. They are well known in Janesville and it is said are being sold in great quantities. They are handled by E. B. Heimstreet, who is Cooper's authorized agent.

Grasshopper in a Glacier

One of the small glaciers in Montana is of especial interest on account of the fact that in the mass of ice there are imbedded two strata of grasshoppers, each about a foot thick. There are literally tons of grasshoppers in the ice and the question naturally arises as to where they came from. The most obvious explanation is that centuries ago two enormous swarms in course of migration were caught in a snowstorm, chilled and buried in the snow, where they have remained till now in a perfect state of preservation.—Country Life in America.

Immense Russian Sturgeon

The Russian sturgeon has been known to attain a length of 20 to 25 feet and a weight of 2,000 pounds. It is this species, once extremely abundant in the Danube, Volga, and other large rivers which has furnished the salted roe called caviare. The sturgeon's bladder is used for isinglass. When sturgeon is eaten its flesh is found to be firmer than that of other fishes, well-flavored, though somewhat oily.

REMOVAL SALE

The Story & Clark Piano Co. came here to advertise themselves and to sell pianos. We have accomplished both. More people know that there is a Story & Clark Piano and more people are using them in Rock County than ever before.

We have some pianos left that we're going to sell, and we're going to sell them because we've put a price on them that will MAKE them go. It costs money to pack and ship pianos, so we're giving you this and also the profit in order to get rid of them right away. Every instrument is new and perfect in every way. If you have hesitated before, thinking you could not afford one, hesitate no longer, for the price is down where you CAN afford it now.
